AN AWFUL CHARGE.

Young Man Held on Suspicion of Killing His Aged Father.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 17.—William Miller, 28, is under arrest charged with the murder of his father, William Miller, 70, on Jan. 25. Charles Tinker is held as an accomplice.

The murdered man was watchman at the Champion Forge and Blower works, which burned on Jan. 25. At that time the old watchman could not be found, but three days later his charred body was found among the debris

The position of the body gave rise to suspicions of foul play, and an investigation was began by the local police, who offered a reward of $500 for the capture of the perpetrator of the double crime. This was doubled by the owners of the works

Detective Elwell, who worked up the case, says he has conclusive evidence against Miller. It is said the accused son bears a bad reputation. A few nights before the tragedy he was heard to say if the "old man" did not give him money he would knock him in the head. The old watchman is known to have carried considerable money on his person at all times, and his accused son is said to have carried $170 insurance on his father's life.

Two weeks ago he is alleged to have started for the home of H. B Keiper, one of the officers of the works, with the avowed intention of "doing him up," but was intercepted on the way and kept from carrying out his design He was in the United States navy at one time, but deserted. He was preparing to leave town when arrested.

WEYLER IS A FAILURE.

Butchery of Noncombatants Does Not Suppress Rebellion.

LONDON, March 17.—A Berlin correspondent says the Hamburger Correspondent, which is often used as an official mouthpiece, believes the powers would refuse to intervene in support of Spain in the Cuban affair against the United States.

A Madrid dispatch says the press and public there express disappointment and impatience at General Weyler's failure to suppress the Cuban insurgents, who are still scouring the provinces of Havana, Pinar del Rio and Matanzas, and burning plantations, villages, etc., on as extensive scale as they were during General Campos' command.

Flirting With Mexico.

MADRID, March 17.—The attention of the newspapers of this city has been attracted to the fact that long interviews have been taking place between the Mexican minister here and the Spanish minister for war and minister for foreign affairs. The papers declare that the ties between the Mexicans and Spaniards tighten daily and that Mexico's position makes her naturally the vanguard against "Yankee encroachments upon Latin America."

FIFTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

In the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The senate had an hour of spirited Cuban debate after the early part of the day had been given to set speeches by Mr. Lodge on immigration and Mr. Pugh on silver. The Cuban discussion was mainly important in bringing out the full reading of a statement of the Spanish side of the case by Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish minister.

This had been referred to some days ago, but could not be made public. Monday, however, Mr. Morgan read a letter from Secretary Olney saying the Spanish minister gave the permission for the public use of the statement. It claimed to detail the insurgent methods of guerilla warfare, the burning of cane fields, and the disorganized character of the insurgent bands. Mr. Morgan commented severely on the minister's statement.

The senator had several sharp controversies with Mr. Hale over various phases of the Cuban question. During the day Mr. Elkins offered a resolution directing the committee on foreign affairs to report as to the status of the war in Cuba before a vote was taken in the senate.

Waller Still In Prison.

PARIS, March 17.—The Patrie says it has been informed at the ministry of the interior that Mr. John L. Waller, formerly the United States consul at Tamatave, undergoing sentence of 20 years' imprisonment for corresponding with the Hovas, is still in prison, no order for his release having been received, and that negotiations between France and the United States on this subject are still proceeding.

An Injunction Granted.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Judge Gaynor of the supreme court in Brooklyn granted the application of William Gordon, a taxpayer, for an injunction to restrain the East river bridge commission from purchasing the franchise of the East River Bridge company, better known as the "Uhlmann franchise."

Reduced Their Wages.

PITTSBURG, March 17.—The 1,500 employes of the Oliver Iron and Steel company have been notified of a 10 per cent reduction in their wages to take effect at once. The cut has caused considerable dissatisfaction and a number of the men have quit work.

To Bridge the Detroit.

OTTAWA, March 17.—The senate discussed and afterward adopted a bill incorporating the Canada and Michigan Bridge and Tunnel company. The object of the company is to erect a bridge across the Detroit river between Windsor, Ont., and Detroit.

CARLISLE'S NAME

Likely to Be Heard In Connection With the Presidency.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT TO BE MADE.

He Is Only Waiting Now For President Cleveland to Publicly Declare That He Does Not Want a Third Term and Will Suffer It to Be Thrust Upon Him by His Friends.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Secretary Carlisle is a candidate for the presidential nomination at Chicago, and a public announcement to that effect will soon be made by one of the secretary's close friends in the senate

This announcement, however, will not be made until President Cleveland has formally stated his purpose not to permit his name to be used in the convention in connection with a third term.

It is learned on excellent authority that the president has fully decided upon this course and it is expected that he will make known his determination within a short time.

Although Secretary Olney's name has been considered with favor by the Democratic leaders, it is known that he does not desire the nomination

It is undoubtedly true that Mr Carlisle's candidacy will have the support of Mr. Cleveland, and the members of the cabinet. He will go before the convention as the representative of the "sound money" views of the administration.

His friends in conducting the canvass for Mr. Carlisle's nomination will urge that it be made upon a sound money platform, and, if he is successful at Chicago, will then make this issue prominent in the campaign leading up to the November elections.

Representative Patterson of Tennessee has received from Secretary Carlisle a letter in response to ex-Speaker Crisp's declaration that silver had received unfriendly treatment at the secretary's hands in which the secretary says the legal tender gold and silver coins of the United States have been treated precisely alike, except that greater efforts have been made to keep silver coin in circulation than have been made to keep gold coin in circulation.

RUSSIA MAKES A MOVE.

The Bear Goes to the Negus With a Tribute of Respect.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 17.—The impression is strengthened here that King Menelek will ask Russia to mediate between Abyssinia and Italy.

The report, however, is semi-officially denied. Elsewhere it is declared that Russia has already dispatched Baron Meyendorf, councilor of the Russian embassy at Rome, to King Menelek with Russia's reply to the latter's request for mediation and consenting to do so.

It is added that the baron also takes to the Negus an order of St. George, a high Russian military decoration.

Only a Verbal Agreement.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The vice president laid before the senate a reply of the interstate commerce commission asking information concerning the customs, rules, relations and agreements and charges of certain railroad companies which shows there is no agreement or regulation in writing other than the regularly established tariffs and rate sheets.

They Only Want a Charter.

CLEVELAND, March 17.—Luther Allen, ex-president of the chamber of commerce, says that if congress grants a charter to the Maritime Canal company the Suez and Panama canals will be discounted. The scheme is to build a 20-foot channel from Lake Erie to the Atlantic ocean, and it will probably cost $-00,000,000.

All For the Ohio Man.

MILWAUKEE, March 17.—The Fourth congressional district elected William E Guier and Julius E. Roehr as delegates from this district to St. Louis, and E. J. Lindsay and William Grass alternates, and adopted a resolution in favor of Major William McKinley for president.

Nothing Heard of the Bermuda.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Nothing has been heard here of the steamship Bermuda since she left here on Sunday evening with arms and ammunition for the Cuban insurgents, and sailed away in the direction of Havana.

Platt Is In the Saddle.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Republican primaries were held in each of the 1,392 election districts of this city and the results show victories for Thomas C. Platt in most of the districts.

Foolroom Keepers Indicted.

LOUISVILLE, March 17.—Three indictments, charging the keepers of poolrooms with conducting disorderly houses, were returned by the grand jury.

BISHOP CAMPBELL ARRESTED.

Charged With Embezzling Some of the Church's Funds.

CLEVELAND, March 17.—Bishop W. B. Campbell of Toledo, the head of the African Evangelical mission, a colored denomination, is in jail here on the charge of embezzling $500.

A few weeks ago Campbell deposed, during a conference in this city, that Rev. R. H Morsell, Rev. J. H. Brown, Rev. R. Mosely and Rev. J. W. Stewart had collected money for the church and had not turned it into the treasury. Monday Messrs. Mosely and Stewart of this city swore out the warrant for Campbell's arrest accusing him of embezzling $500 of the church's money.

"OHIO IN THE WAR"

The Plates Belong to the Robert Clarke Company.

D. J. RYAN EXPLAINS MATTERS.

This Sets at Rest Some Sensational Rumors Which Have Caused Considerable Speculation Among Statesmen and Politicians—A Bill to Protect Children Against the Influences of Immorality.

COLUMBUS, O., March 17.—Hon. Daniel J. Ryan has assured the general assembly that the Robert Clarke Publishing company of Cincinnati, are the sole and exclusive owners of the plates, etc., of "Ohio in the War." This sets at rest much sensational speculation caused by the introduction of a resolution providing for the purchase of said plates.

A bill was introduced in the house for the protection of children from immoral influences It provides that the owner, agent, proprietor or keeper or inmate of an immoral house who keeps or harbors about the premises any child between the age of 4 and 16 years shall be fined not less than $100, nor more than $300, or be imprisoned in the jail or workhouse from three to six months or both The court is also empowered to close the house as a public nuisance.

THIS CALLS FOR VENGEANCE.

Americans Bound and Shot by Spaniards Without Cause.

HAVANA, March 17.—Dr. Jose Mangel Delgado, the American citizen who is reported to have been shot and nearly killed by Spanish troops under the command of General Melquiz, is so seriously injured that he had to be carried on a stretcher

The captain general has promised the promptest inquiry into the circumstances in the case and has given assurances that the guilty persons will be most severely punished

Dr Delgado says that a number of the employes of the Delgado plantation near Baiona have been killed by the troops, including the brothers Tipia and the Guerreras, father and son

The circumstances in the case, so far as they can be gathered at present, seem to point to a most gross and deliberate outrage upon the part of the Spanish soldiery who were made aware that Mr Delgado and his aged father were both American citizens.

But this fact appears to have had no weight with the Spanish officers and Mr. Delgado is said to have been bound and shot without trial and without any justification The doctor was left for dead and eight of his father's employes were killed.

KILLED WITH AN AX.

Horrible Butchery of a Wife by Her Husband In Georgia.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., March 17.—Henry Patterson 25, and a son of Hone Patterson, a well-to-do country citizen, recently married a young lady of high social position

Friday last Patterson reported that on the night before he had loaded his gun to shoot a chicken and that the cap failed

Going back to the house for another cap, the hammer slipped and the load went into the head of his wife, who was asleep beside her baby.

The story was not a plausible one and an inquest developed the fact that the woman had first been killed with an ax and then shot. Patterson was arrested. Indignation is running high.

SHE WANTED PADEREWSKI.

But His Terms Were Away Beyond the Musicians' Union Rate.

"Is Mr. Paddyrooski in?" inquired a thin faced little woman, with a complexion like a sugar cured ham, as she struck the Palace hotel counter with the handle of her parasol to attract the clerk's attention.

"I don't know, madam," he replied. "You will have to send up your card."

"Well, I'll tell you what I want, and maybe you can help me. I'm going to give a dance over at my hotel at Tomales tomorrow night, and I want him to play. Do you think he will?"

"Well, yes. He is a professional musician, and I'm pretty sure he will play if he is paid for it."

"Oh, I'll pay him all right. I'll deposit the money with you here in advance. Of course I couldn't give it to him in advance because he might not give satisfaction."

"Here's his manager, Mr. Gorlitz, Mrs. ——?"

"Potts."

"Mrs. Potts. She wants to get Mr. Paderewski to play tomorrow night."

"We have no engagement for tomorrow night, and he will play if he is paid for it."

"Oh, certainly. I expect to pay him, and liberally too. He can come over by the afternoon train and play for the dance and go back in the morning, and I'll allow him two days' pay. I'll deposit the money with the clerk now as security." And she counted out $8.

"Why, madam," protested Gorlitz, "Mr. Paderewski would not think of coming for less than $8,000."

"Oh, mercy!" And she gave a little scream. "And just think how near I came to making a contract without coming to terms. I think it's a shame, an outrage I'll report it to the Musicians' union. Their rate is $4 a day, I know, because that's what I've always paid for a piano player. I'll bet the union will make it so warm for him he'll have to get out of town." And in her rage she flounced out without her umbrella. —San Francisco Post.

A REAL TREAT.

Marion May Expect a Splendid Entertainment Friday Night.

There is much enjoyment in store for the audience that attends the performance of Merriken's Star Entertainers at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Friday night. The company consists of the Cunningham quartet, W. A. McCormick, the Riverside whistler, and W. Eugene Page, mandolin virtuoso. A better male quartet has not been heard in Marion, while McCormick and Page are either of them a whole show in themselves. Mr. McCormick is a prince of imitators and Page is to the mandolin what Remenyi is to the violin.

This company has been heard informally in Marion and there is abundant local testimony that "they are great."

Tickets are on sale at the uniform price of 31 cents. No extra for reserved seats at Martin & Wiley's.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Hamilton Ash Will Open One at His Office in the Court Room.

Hamilton Ash proposes opening an employment bureau. Mr. Ash has an office in the agricultural rooms in the court house and is well located for such an agency.

He purposes recording the names of all unemployed persons who are seeking work and to also have ready information relative to all persons wanting help.

Mr. Ash believes that his agency may be made a decided public convenience. Laborers seeking work and parties desiring labor performed are invited to call. A very small fee will be charged to cover actual expenses. Mr. Ash purposes calling his bureau the Merchants, Mechanics and Laborers Bureau of Exchange.

A SHAMROCK HAND CAP.

A Race that Patsy Kelly, Dan Freel and Mike Burgiss Would Enjoy.

The Turf, Field and Farm announces a race today at Ingleside, California, that Patsy Kelly, Dan Freel and Mike Burgiss would shout with joy could they see the start and finish. It was called the Shamrock handicap, and the horses entered were "Tim Murphy," "Pat Murphy" and "Babe Murphy." Tom Murphy was secured to start the race, while Joe Murphy occupied the judges' stand alone.

This was a very appropriate day of sport for the occasion, and the announcement caused no little comment among the lovers of fast horses in this city.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Big Four pay car will be here on the 20th.

The C., H. V. and T. maintenance of way department will in about ten days receive five miles of the 60-foot rail, which has proven such a success on the system.

The C., H. V. and T. has returned to the old form of cash fare slips, conductors having protesting against the amount of work with the new design of duplex.

The seventh annual ball of Hollingworth division, No. 100, Order Railway Conductors, is to occur at the city hall at Columbus, O., April 20, 1896. A large number of invitations have been received here and many will be in attendance. The following is the committee of arrangements, headed by Col. William Beard, known to all Marion people: William Beard, J. W. Moore, E. M. Draper, John O'Brien and Frank Smith. The Fourteenth regiment band is to furnish the music.

President Ingalls of the Big Four has gone to New York to obtain authority to issue $2,000,000 of bonds of the Big Four in order to get funds for the construction of new lines and improvements and betterments. As is well known the Big Four president looks forward with hope for a great improvement in business during the next year or two. The building of the Big Four into Hamilton is one of the enterprises that he has in mind, and his present trip east will determine whether or not the board will authorize the bond issue necessary.

To the Republican Voters.

I am still in the field as a candidate for a member of the school board, notwithstanding I am opposed by candidates representing two of the wealthiest banks of our city. But I do not want the office bad enough to hire a dead beat of a policeman, or to secure the services of one of our toniest lawyers to canvass the city for me, on the Sabbath day, as did other candidates. If compelled to resort to such means to obtain the nomination, I do not want it. I am still in favor of loaning the school funds to the bank paying the highest rate of interest, and giving a good bond for the same.

And I should be glad to have the vote of every republican woman in the city.

Respectfully, S. E. DeWolfe.

Rolla Perry a Candidate.

Rolla C. Perry has been prevailed upon by his many devoted Marion friends to become a candidate for the democratic nomination for prosecuting attorney. Mr Perry is one of the bright members of the Marion bar and has a personal popularity that means a strong support in the democratic primaries.

Mr. Perry read law with the Scofields and later with Boston & Young, and was on the latter's roll when admitted to the bar. He is a talented, capable young attorney and a fine young man. He is associated with the Star staff, the boys here cordially wish him a successful run.

MAKES PEOPLE WELL

Most Remarkable Remedy in the World.

For Superior to Ordinary Sarsaparillas, Nervines or Bitters.

The True Medicine for Lost Nervous Strength.

Without an Equal in Purifying and Enriching the Blood.

GREAT CURES EFFECTED BY PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

What Scientific Research Has Accomplished.

Proved by Success Where All Else Has Failed.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is the Paine's celery compound so generally prescribed by physicians. It is the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth college, first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

Sufferers from neuralgia, neuralgic headaches and rheumatism should stop short their morphine, quinine and such pain-killing drugs. No cure can be hoped for from these temporizers. There is one way of getting rid forever of the causes of all this suffering; that is by taking Paine's celery compound. In this great modern remedy the real means to health is attended to; sleep is made sound and refreshing, the appetite improves and the nerves stop complaining, because they get the nutriment that nature requires. This is the fundamental, rational way that Paine's celery compound takes to be able to cope successfully with diseases of the liver, kidneys and stomach, and to guarantee a complete return of sound sleep, good digestion and a quiet, well regulated nervous system.

HE WANTED THREE LETTERS.

But When They Came McIlhenny Was Barely a Happy Man.

McAllister McIlhenny was plunged in thought, but he was safe, for it wasn't over his head.

Only over his heart.

He was revolving in his mind what to say to the beautiful Brooklyn belle he had loved last and was still loving.

In other words, McAllister McIlhenny had wheels—emotional wheels.

After a long time he shook himself slowly and kissed between his firm set teeth:

"She shall be mine. I swear it."

Then he cast from his heart's journey, and ere long he was seated beside her, an elegantly upholstered fantrail.

"Miss Dolly," he said after the usual meteorological references had been mentally cited, as is the custom when two persons meet, "I love you with a love that passes under standing."

She looked down at his feet and realized how great his love must be.

"Why, Mr. McIlhenny," she exclaimed twitteringly as a bird might twitter.

"Yes, Miss Dolly—dear Miss Dolly—dear Dolly—darling Dolly," he went on in a succession of emotional explosions, "and you can set my throbbing heart forever at rest if you will."

"How, Mr. McIlhenny?" she murmured.

By answering a question with one little word—only one."

"Oh, how funny, Mr. McIlhenny! What is the question?"

"Will you be mine, dearest?"

It was very sudden and Dolly was scarcely expecting it, but she didn't lose her head.

She gently dropped it as maidens do when they are proposed to.

"And so I owe little word answer so important a question," she said almost tremulously. McAllister McIlhenny was certainly impulsive, but he did not intend to let his impetuosity ruin his case if he could prevent such a catastrophe. Dear, right sweetheart, I have got a telegram to send to-day. "No," but he was too certain for that.

So he hedged.

"Only one little word, darling," he whispered, as he slipped a hand over [illegible] "that is the most delicious [illegible] in it."

GOODNOW'S EXPERIENCE.

A Stock Broker Tells About a Stagnation in the Bull Market.

It would be hard to convince anyone knowing J. S. Goodnow, that he ever found himself upon the short side of any deal and did not be himself rough for the following story it would be impossible to believe it.

Monday afternoon at Hotel Marion a party of gentlemen were discussing different methods of suddenly acquiring riches and how signal were the failures occasionally met with, when Col Goodnow told a little experience of his own.

The Colonel's style is so peculiar that it is impossible to reproduce it in print but the story goes something like this:

"Talking about losing money, I once lost $575 in a $600 investment. Fact. I thought I saw a chance to make a few dollars several years ago. The year before everyone running a dairy was looking for a first-class bull. So I said to myself, 'Goodnow, why don't you buy a car load of bulls and sell 'em out at a big profit?'

"The idea was such a good one that I hired a man to help me drive and we started out and in a week's time had purchased a car load of bulls.

"There were thirty of 'em and they cost me $600 and I though if I can't double and triple my money I'm no good.

"Well, we shipped the bulls up to that portion of York state where the big demand for bulls had been made the year before, and unloading them started to drive 'em through the country.

"The scheme didn't work, however. The demand of the year before had been supplied. It seemed as if every one of the dairymen had a bull or two to sell instead of wanting to buy.

"Would you believe it? We drove those bulls around for two months and had to almost give 'em away, and they fairly ate their heads off.

"Why, the last one I sold for $25 and took the fellow's note for it and, by gad, the note went to protest and I had to pay it.

"When I started out I had paid $600 for the thirty bulls and had $50 left in my pocket. When I had sold the last bull I hadn't a cent left beyond the fare of myself and boy to our homes.

"It's an actual fact that hotel bills, feed for the stock and the boy's hire had eaten up the selling price of the bulls, so I was out the $600 invested, the $50 which I had when I started and the $25 the face of the note which went to protest and $1.50, the protest fee. It's as plain as the nose on your face that I lost $576.50 on a $600 investment."

Mr. Goodnow does not fully do justice to the story. It may be that his exceeding modesty is at fault. He should, however, remember that the time of a man, who by middle age has accumulated anywhere from $100,000 to a quarter of a million, is worth something.

Had he remained at home he could have clipped off large sections of notes in the way of discounts. It would be a low estimate to place the value of his time at $25 per day. Since he was out nine weeks he was surely loser $1575, the value of his time, and $676.50 in money expended, making a total loss of $2251.50 on his investment of $600. And that's the reason why, when he is judging stock at the Agricultural society meetings, he always shudders as he passes a bull.

Will Give a Dance.

There was a meeting of the Deutscher Bund Monday evening to decide whether or not to give an entertainment on the evening of Easter Monday. It was decided to give a dance on that date. The dance is to be given at the People's rink. Committees were appointed and a pleasant time is contemplated.

Compulsory Insurance Proposed.

The Swiss federal council is submitting to the two chambers a scheme for compulsory insurance against accidents and sickness. It is based upon the previous project of M. Forrer, department of Winterthur. According to this scheme all Swiss inhabitants whose earnings do not exceed 4125 per annum will be obliged to insure. The insurers, private insurance societies due to individual initiative in each canton, will be allowed to exist by the side of the federal insurance, and members may fulfill their obligation by belonging to the former. This liberty is however, limited by the condition that the private benefit societies shall secure to their members the same advantages as the public insurers, or that they shall not injure by their competition the working of the latter or involve serious inconvenience to the employers who have adopted the combination.

The conditions being granted, the cantons [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC —AND— Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF

Nervousness,	Broken Constitution,
Nervous Prostration,	Debility of Old Age,
Nervous Headache,	Indigestion and Dyspepsia,
Sick Headache,	Heartburn and Sour Stomach,
Female Weakness,	Weight and Tenderness in Stomach,

Nervousness of Females,	Consumption of the Lungs,
Nervousness of Old Age,	Catarrh of the Lungs,
Neuralgia,	Bronchitis and Chronic Cough,
Pains in the Heart,	Liver Complaint,
Pains in the Back,	Chronic Diarrhœa,
Failing Health,	Delicate and Scrofulous Children,

Summer Complaint of Infants.

All these and many other complaints cured by this wonderful Nervine Tonic.

NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been found to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a condition of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the proper kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the "power" by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '95.
Gentlemen: Great South American Medicine Co.:
I am glad to say to you that I am entirely cured of my years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every remedy I could hear of, but nothing done me any permanent good until I was advised to use the Great South American Nervine Tonic and Liver Cure, and since using it I must say that I am surprised at the wonderful powers to cure the stomach and general nervous system. If everyone knew the value of this remedy as I do you would have no trouble to supply the demand.
HARRIS, Ex-Treas. Montgomery Co.

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.
JOHN T. MISH.

State of Indiana, Montgomery County, } ss:
Subscribed and sworn to before me this June 22, 1887.
CHAS. W. WRIGHT, Notary Public.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the ONE and ONLY one great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the combined curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood, am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

COMPARES WITH SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE AS A CURE FOR THE NERVES. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and Constipation are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; do not neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great remedy; it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks. It will remove all disfigurations and weaknesses.

THE MORBID IMPULSE.

An Uncontrollable Desire to Do Preposterous Things.

A FRENCHMAN'S FUNNY FAILING.

He Learned Discretion From a Queer Adventure, and Now He Always Runs Away When He Feels a Morbid Impulse Coming On.

He was standing at the extreme end of the dike when I first saw him on the beach at Biarritz. The man stood there, his tall figure outlined against the blue sky, irreproachably dressed, and seemed to care not when a mightier wave than usual topped the barrier and sent hissing foam all around his feet. I waited to see him engulfed, for twice since I had sat there several tons of water had spread themselves greedily over the place where he was then standing. What sang froid! What courage! Suddenly he looked about him in a startled way, and, without any apparent cause, he then bounded back like a frightened deer, and, with a blanched face, jumped over the wall just in front of me. It was so monkeylike that it was funny.

I laughed heartily.

"You seem pleased," said he, somewhat angrily.

"I am somewhat."

"Well, on the whole, I can't blame you," said he, seating himself. He continued: "I'd like to explain. I am not crazy, I'm not a crank, and I never drink."

"What did you see?"

"Nothing."

"Then why did you run?"

"Well, I had a morbid impulse. Did you ever have a morbid impulse toy with you? Yes; you have. Every one has. And my advice is, when you see your morbid impulse advancing, just fleece I did."

"What was your morbid impulse?"

"While I stood there, half fascinated by the danger and by those huge, green waves, which came dashing in and ran against that barrier at my feet, hissing along its side so smoothly and so powerfully, their foam crested tops tumbling in great white masses of spume, I had a morbid impulse to just drop myself on one of them and feel myself glide along beautifully back to yonder cliffs."

"And then?"

"That's what stopped me—that 'and then'—and that's just what scared me too. I knew if I staid I should do it, and for a moment I stood there incapable of motion. That morbid impulse and I had a fierce tussle. It seemed hours to me, though I suppose it was only seconds, and finally my will conquered, and I ran back in mortal terror to find you here laughing."

"I will tell you a queer episode," continued the stranger, lighting a cigarette, "of how I got the best of my first morbid impulse. It was on the Lyons express going from Paris. First there came into the compartment an old lady and two girls, then a thin man, and finally a big, red faced Englishman, whose features had a permanent look of discontent bordering on rage. He was my vis-a-vis. The old fellow merely glanced around and fumbled out a book from his bag, put on his glasses, placed his elbows on his knees, leaned over and was soon absorbed in its contents. As the train flew along I amused myself regarding my fellow passengers, but the old fellow centered my interest.

He sat there poring over that book like a statue, nor once looked up. My legs were crossed, and once as the train gave a lurch my foot flew up and almost touched under his book, which was held right over it.

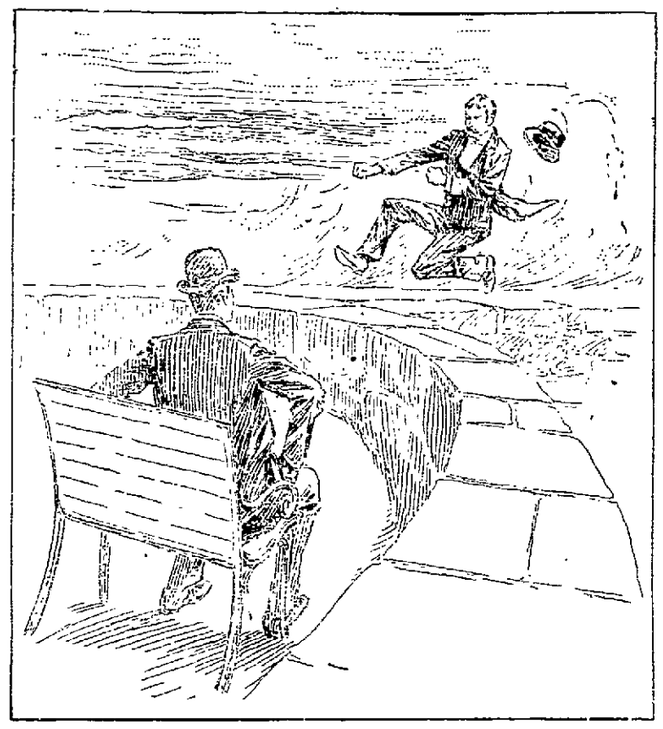
"That was the commencement. It occurred to me in what a beautiful position that book was for me to kick. What a fine swing I could get in that foot to give it a hoist into the air. The more I thought of it the more I wanted to do it. I pictured to myself that man's rage. I could see his face distorted with passion and surprise. I could see the old lady's alarm, the thin man's surprise and the young girls' outrage. But how could I explain my action? It would have to be explained some way. I could not deliberately assault the man.

"Then I remembered a story of how a certain wag in Paris laid a wager with a friend one day in the street of Paris that he would go up behind a man in front of them, give him a rousing kick, and the man would not be offended. The wager being promptly taken, the wag went up to the man and did kick him. The man turned around, furious. In the instant the wag's hat was off, and he was saying: 'Sir, I beg your 1000 pardons. I have made an awful mistake. I mistook you for my enemy, the Comte de X——' (who was at that time a great lion and the handsomest man in Paris), and the stranger, who was very ill favored, was instantly mollified. It was the idea from that story that I seized as a basis in dealing with the big, red faced man opposite me. After kicking his book out of his hands, which I had now finally decided to do, I would tell him, with my utmost regret, that I had been looking at him for a long time and had decided him to be an old friend who did not recognize me. I would offer him 10,000 apologies. It depended, of course, on my magnetism and manner how it would succeed. I now felt happy. I slowly raised my foot under the book which hung so temptingly over it until my toe just touched it, and then let it fall back. I calculated that my blow would send it, go bang, against the roof of the car.

"I adjusted my foot over my crossed leg to get the best swing possible, and then let it go. It was as I supposed. The book flew up out of the man's hands and struck the roof of the car sharply and flattened back almost as quickly. The red faced man fell back and uttered a gasp of surprise. The old lady yelled, the girls tee-heed, and the thin man jumped. On the instant I, too, was on my feet, hat off, with my most engaging and apologetic smile. I hastily picked up the book, gave it into the astonished man's hands, begging his pardon sincerely and explaining as I had thought to do. The red faced man grew redder, shifted uneasily in his seat, as if undecided whether to annihilate me or not, and finally growled out something about 'whether that was my usual manner of greeting old friends.'

"I had conquered, I thought, but I could see he was not quite satisfied. He settled back in his seat, did not resume reading and now and then turned a cold, inquiring eye on me. I could see after a little while his face commenced to work; a vindictive gleam lighted his eyes, and finally he quickly leaned forward and raising one of his heavy boots he planted it squarely on my instep. I uttered a howl of pain and woke up. I had kicked no book. So it was all a dream.

"The train had stopped at Dijon, and a man coming in had stepped on my foot, awaking me, and my yell had aroused everybody about, including the red faced man, who beamed on me a look of annoyed surprise. It was that blessed nap that intervened somewhere, I know not where, and prevented me from yielding to that morbid impulse. I should have surely kicked that book; I know I should."



"HE LEAPED OVER THE WALL IN FRONT OF ME."

MARRIED BENEATH HIM.

Annoyances Suffered by a West Pointer Who Espoused a Soldier's Daughter.

The feeling of caste is no stronger in India than in the regular army of this enlightened republic.

If an army officer who has been fed, clothed and educated at public expense condescends to marry the daughter of a private soldier he is forever disgraced; he forfeits the comradeship of his fellow officers; his wife is socially ostracized, and his position is made so unpleasant that he gladly sacrifices his career in the army and seeks retirement from the service.

That has been the experience of Second Lieutenant Clarence E. Lang, Second artillery. He was graduated with honors at West Point in June, 1894, and on the same day was married to Miss Mamie Kinsle, daughter of Commissary Sergeant Kinkle. West Point social circles were dumfounded. Lang had been warned that an alliance with the soldier's daughter would forever blight his career as an officer, but the young lieutenant had an idea that marriage was an affair of the heart and not a matter of military etiquette.

Since that day Lang and his wife have been socially ostracized. Lang's best man was Hospital Steward Lally. A few weeks after the marriage Lally was dismissed from the army. His discharge was attributed by his friends to the part he took in the Lang affair. Sergeant Kinkle then found it agreeable to leave West Point. He wanted to get stationed in the east, so as to be near Mrs. Lang, who is his only child, but he was sent to Texas.

Now Lang is an applicant for retirement and hopes to find among civilians the courteous treatment denied to him in the army.

SILENCED BY A JOKE.

Why Congressman Crain Never Delivered Another Speech in the House.

The death of Congressman William H. Crain of Texas removed from political life one of the brightest minds in the south.

Mr. Crain used to be one of the leaders of the house. He never spoke without the greatest attention, for he always spoke well. For five years past, however, Mr. Crain has practically taken no part in the proceedings of the house. His usefulness was destroyed by a joke—a joke from which he never recovered.

Mr. Crain was first elected to the Forty-ninth congress. He was handsome in appearance, well posted on all subjects, an orator, and a man of great personal magnetism. These qualities immediately brought him to the front. His first speech in congress made him a name. The newspaper correspondents took a great fancy to him, and often wrote flattering articles about him.

It was during the Fifty-first congress that he was sitting in the Press club one afternoon discussing politics with a party of newspapermen. To one of them he remarked upon the fact that when some men spoke all the correspondents left the gallery and retired to the lobby, while when others addressed the house they crowded into the house to hear. He added that he noted they always came in to hear him, and he expected all of them to be present on the next day, when he expected to make the speech of his life on the McKinley tariff bill.

The next morning the press gallery was crowded to hear the debate. There were several speakers to precede Mr. Crain. During their speeches the gallery remained full, but the moment Mr. Crain took the floor every correspondent in the gallery arose and filed out into the lobby. It was arranged on the part of the correspondents as a little joke on the Texan.

The concerted action of the correspondents naturally had its effect upon Mr. Crain. It annoyed him so that he cut his speech short and quickly resumed his seat. The moment he did all the correspondents filed back into the gallery and listened to the other speeches.

Though given to joking himself, Mr. Crain could never realize the joke of it. From that day to the day of his death he never delivered another set speech in the house, and rarely ever said anything on the floor. It was a shock from which he never recovered.—Atlanta Constitution.

There are a great many wrong ways of treating disease. It is easy to make mistakes. Doctors make mistakes just the same as anybody else. The doctors who make the fewest mistakes are specialists. They do one thing over and over and over, so that they know all that there is to know about it.

In the 30 years that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have been sold, hundreds of thousands of people have taken them, and have been cured by them. There is no longer any possible question of their efficacy. They are the product of experience, tried by time. They are intended to cure constipation. They are good for men, women and children. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, very easy to take, very quick in their action. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two "Pellets" a mild cathartic. A great many people make the mistake of "sandbagging" their digestive organs. They take some strong and violent medicine, which creates worse troubles than it cures. Strong purgatives shock the system unnecessarily, and they do not cure constipation. Constipation is a thing that makes people listless and languid; makes their breath bad; wakes them up with foul taste in their mouths; puts black spots before their eyes; makes them dizzy; causes headache; makes them bilious; produces pimples and blotches—runs into all sorts of serious consequences. All this is cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—cured absolutely, perfectly, permanently.

Preposterous Depravity.

"Mamma," asked Johnny, "if the bottom should come out of your sieve would you put it into the hands of a receiver?"

"Not necessarily," replied his mother, "but if you don't go and bring in that kindling I'll put you into the hands of your father, and you have reason to remember his hands are hard."—Chicago Tribune.

Sound Reason.

The late Rev. Dr. William L. Breckinridge of Kentucky used to tell this story of an Irishman who desired to have a letter written to me to his friends in the old country. It was at a time when provisions were so abundant in the west as to be almost without value.

After mentioning a good many things that he wished to have written to his friends in Ireland in regard to America, Patrick said:

"Tell them that I get all the meat I can eat three times a week."

"And what do you mean by that?" asked the writer. "Don't you get all the bacon you can eat three times a day?"

"Yes, your riverence," was the prompt reply.

"Well, then, what do you mean by writing to your friends in Ireland that you get all the meat you can eat three times a week?"

"Faith," said Pat, "and that is more than they will believe."—Youth's Companion.

And He Passed On.

There were plenty of empty seats in the car, but the smiling youth who wore his hat on the back part of his head stopped opposite the handsome young woman in the red hat and said in his most engaging manner:

"Can I take this seat, miss?"

"I have no objection, sir," she replied in a tone that froze the smile fast on his face, "but I think it's nailed down."—Chicago Tribune.

All last winter Mr. Geo. A. Mills, of Lebanon, Conn., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. At times it was so severe that he could not stand up straight, but was drawn over on one side. "I tried different remedies without receiving relief," he says, "until about six months ago I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. After using it for three days my rheumatism was gone and has not returned since." For sale by L. H. Flocken, Druggist.

"Give me a liver regulator and I can regulate the world," said a genius. The druggist handed him a bottle of DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. Flocken's drug store.

All Luck.

"If I had your luck and you had mine," said Dismal Dawson to one of his prosperous clients, "I s'pose it would be no helping you."

"Luck?" answered the prosperous one. "I made all my money by hard work."

Cruelty to Horses Punished.

"Nicking" horses was described by the witness in a case heard before the Wakefield magistrates as "a matter of fashion," but it appears to be something more than that—at least to the horses. Nicking is a process supplemental to what is known as "docking," and is intended to cause horses' tails, or rather the stumps thereof which remain after docking, to "stand out smart, erect and perky enough to make them look fashionable."

In the case in question four animals were stated to have been cast on straw while one of the defendants made four large wounds, or incisions, in the muscles under the tail of each. The animals were then placed in stalls padded on each side with bags or sacks of straw, to prevent them from lying down, while their tails were plaited with straw, and a rope attached to this was carried up to the ceiling and passed over a pulley. A three or four pound weight was then suspended from the other end of the rope, with the object of holding the tails of the horses erect or perpendicular.

Further, it appeared that the horses were to be kept in this position for three weeks, but fortunately for them the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals heard of the business. One witness declared that the legs of the horses that have been nicked have been known to swell in one week almost to the size of their bodies. On the question of cruelty experts were, as usual, called upon both sides, but the Wakefield magistrates found the defendants guilty and inflicted in each case a fine of £5, with £7 1s. 6d. in the shape of costs.—London News.

HOUSE AND BALL GOWNS.

How to Add to a House Gown—A Beautiful Costume.

Nothing is prettier to diversify the appearance of a house gown that has become a trifle monotonous than a sleeveless bodice made of Dresden silk, fancy striped satin or small patterned brocade. This may be half low, fitted and carefully boned lining and only slightly full front and back. The opening around the arm is made to fit neatly and is either corded, gimp edged or frilled to hide the joining. The bodice fastens invisibly and is put over the waist proper just as one would add an Eton jacket. This gives a novel look to the gown. The amount of silk or satin required is very little, for it is the sleeves which devour material nowadays. Small turn back cuffs matching the low bodice are a pretty addition. This suggestion is meant for women of slender build. A fitted waistcoat or flat folded plastron, with folded collar and cuffs to match, made of narrow striped or dotted silk or satin, is a far better addition for those of ampler proportions.

Fashion now permits great latitude with regard to headwear, and women are not obliged to adopt uniformly large or small hats and bonnets. If one style is not becoming, there are plenty of others from which to select, and shape, size and trimming may be chosen to suit the individual, with no risk of appearing out of date.

Although sleeves are actually beginning to diminish a little—that is, the newest and most elegant costume models show smaller sleeves—the fashionable skirt is still from six to eight yards around the foot. However, as soon as the upper part of the gown shrinks decidedly the skirt is sure to decrease also.

The ball gown illustrated has a godet skirt of Louis Seize taffeta, the pink ground having a brocho pattern of bows and roses in green and pink. The bodice, of plain pink taffeta, is slightly draped across the bosom and has a heart shaped decolletage. Epaulets of pink roses are carried across the shoulders, and one rose is placed in the middle of the front. The short balloon sleeves are draped by a rose. The belt is of rose satin.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Probate Judge.

To the Republicans of Marion County, Ohio: I hereby respectfully solicit your support as the Republican candidate for the office of Probate Judge, at your coming county convention. Respectfully,
CHARLES F. GARBERSON.

In the meantime there is every reason to believe that Boss Platt is still tired of Ohio men.

The Kenton News office was burglarized one night recently. If found the burglar will be sent to the insane asylum.

The Carlisle presidential boom has stepped to the front of the stage and assumed a dramatic attitude, but there is no deafening applause.

Council hit the new city building proposition hard, and the question is now off for an indefinite time. We still need the building, however.

One paper has found that nobody kicks against the big hat at church. Maybe the reason is found in the fact that so many go to church to see the hat, while they go to the theater to see the play.

The New York World has made a poll of nearly all states in the Union, and as a result predicts the nomination of McKinley at the St. Louis convention. All efforts to head the Ohio man in the big race seem unavailing.

Infanta Eulalie needn't be afraid that Spain will light with Uncle Sam—at least not as long as she can jump on to some little fellow.—Mansfield News.

Of course by "she" Spain, not the Infanta, is meant.

A message from President Cleveland on the Cuban question is anticipated. Meanwhile the people of the United States have pretty generally formed their own opinions on the Cuban question, and it is not very flattering to the Spanish. It is doubtful if anything the president may say will change the prevailing sentiment.

Governor Bradley impresses one with being supplied with all the necessary backbone required of a governor of Kentucky. He declares that he is perfectly able to take care of himself, his object being to protect the legislature and prevent trouble. Thus he explains his action in ordering out the state militia.

The entire lower floor of the McKinley home at Canton, into which Major and Mrs. McKinley moved for "restful retirement," is now daily occupied by clerks, stenographers and typewriters connected with the ex-governor's presidential bureau. However, the kind of news that is coming in from all parts of the United States may probably be regarded as quite restful to the champion of protection.

The council must have been in a pout Monday night. For that reason the fuel gas ordinance failed to pass. The friends of the ordinance naturally wonder at this for the matter to have final action must go before the people at the polls. Council can run no risk in leaving the matter to the people to vote upon. The complaint on account of unfavorable action is due to the near approach of the election. The matter must be voted upon this year or be indefinitely delayed

Marionites have no music in their souls—Galion Daily Leader.

What bass misrepresentation or depth of presumptuous ignorance could have led our esteemed neighbor to thus attempt to disturb the even tenor of our way, or harrow the rhythmic mirthfulness of our soul, we wot not. Verily, the Leader man is laboring under a woeful misapprehension, or, is a lyre—in other word.

Need we, to set ourselves aright, refer to our musical clubs and orchestras, their study, appreciation and great enjoyment of the classics? Must we overcome the innate modesty for which the city is famous and herald the information that life with us "is one grand, sweet song"? That there is harmonious concord in the very Marion air? That the hum of industry is soothing melody to the Marion ear, or, that the onward march of progress of the tuneful factory whistles fill us with an allegro movement that puts us in advance of our neighbors and leaves them sitting quietly around listening to the grass grow in the public thoroughfares? It seems even so.

But must we submit in silence to the song and dance of carping and unjust critics? Nit—a thousand times nit!

We hereby resent the Leader's insinuation:

"Marionites have no music in their souls!"

Get out! They're chock full of it.

PROHIB. NOMINATIONS.

The Third Party Followers Put Tickets in the Field.

The Prohibitionists of Marion city and township held their convention this afternoon, at the W. C. T. U. rooms.

The convention organized with M. B. Chase as chairman and Milton Marsh secretary. The following nominations were made for members of city council:

First ward—Wm. H. Harrington.
Second ward—Milton Marsh.
Third ward—John Vestal.
Fourth ward—M. A. Beaver.

For school board—Laura Miller and M. B. Chase.

The committee to fill vacancies consisted of D. A. Wonder, Frank Haley and Ed. Vail.

The township ticket nominated is as follows:

Trustee—L. N. Lucapher
Clerk—J. B. Bolander.
Constables—S. S. Fox and S. D. Young.
Assessor—W. T. Owen
Justice of the peace—Daniel Lucapher
Township committee to fill vacancies—R. H. Orvis, M. A. Powers and John Jacoby

Few of our men fully realize what a great help it is to be doing systematic work in such a gymnasium. A half hour of vigorous exercise followed by a bath and vigorous rubbing will wonderfully increase a man's working ability.

We have in Marion facilities for such exercise as few cities possess. Our gymnasium is well equipped and well manned and the bowling alley is an increased means of body building

WOMEN MAY VOTE.

THEY HAVE A RIGHT TO HELP NAME SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES.

A Movement To Have Them Take an Interest in the Nominations Tonight—The Caucuses Promise To Be Very Well Attended.

The school board caucuses are to be held at 7 o'clock tonight, standard time. The Republicans meet in the office of Sheriff Shaw, where they will nominate a candidate in their own party and then endorse the nominee of the democratic caucus. The Democrats will meet at the same time in the agricultural room in the court house, nominate one Democrat and endorse the republican nominee. This method of endorsing one another's candidate assures the non-partisan character of the board.

The chief interest attaches to the republican, because the Democrats are practically sure to renominate Frank White for a second term, and because the Republicans have a very lively contest on for a successor to Dr. F. W. Thomas, who retires after nine years on the board.

What adds an extra bit of interest is the probability of the women taking a hand in the caucuses. The gentler sex has the right to vote for members of school board, so have they the right to partake of the work in naming candidates. There is no legal dispute of this privilege. At Cleveland last year the ladies participated in the primaries, and the Leader says they will attend the primaries in large numbers again this year.

One of the republican candidates has shown an interest in the Marion ladies going to the primaries, and says a goodly number will be there. Let them come, we know the gentlemen will make room, and doff their hats as fair feminity casts her little ballot into the box.

Proposition to Remove the Sawyer Sanitarium to Toledo Not a Go.

Despite the efforts to get the C. E. Sawyer sanitarium to Toledo it will remain in Marion. Last Thursday the contract was let as announced in the STAR for the erection of the addition that is to be made to the sanitarium, but there was a proviso in the contract. A number of capitalists in Toledo desired to erect a much larger Sanitarium and wanted to place Dr. Sawyer at the head of it.

They made him a gilt-edged offer. The proposition was to take the sanitarium here off his hands, and establish him in the city on the Maumee. Dr. Sawyer also made a proposition to the gentlemen from Toledo, and while he did not care to accept it, he would have been obliged to take it, had they consented. At a late hour Monday night, he gave it out that it had not been accepted, and that he would remain in Marion.

It must be understood that Dr. Sawyer did not care to leave Marion. That was furthest from his thoughts, but the proposition made him at Toledo was attractive. He then made a proposition to those interested in that city, which would have still furthered his own interests, and he made it so high that he was almost certain that they would not accept.

Marion people can feel gratified that the sanitarium is to remain in Marion, as it is becoming one of the most prominent enterprises in the city.

The Woman's club held one of the most enjoyable sessions of the year, Monday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. M. Keiler, east Center street. Quotations from James Whitcomb Riley were given in response to the roll call. The program of the afternoon included two exceedingly interesting papers, "American Artists," by Mrs. James Guthery, and "A Vacation in Vermont," by Mrs. Atherton, followed by the discussion of Current Events, led by Mrs. Crane. The first topic was "Norfolk, or the Idyllic Island," followed by an earnest canvas of the status and influence of the Salvation Army in America, closing with a sketch of the life and the first and only surrender of Rear Admiral Walker. The club calendars will be ready for distribution at the next meeting

Resolution

Submitting the Issue of School Bonds To a Vote of the Electors of Marion Union School District.

Resolutions Adopted by the Board of Education.

Whereas, It is necessary for the proper accommodation of the schools in Marion School District to erect and finish additional school buildings and

Whereas, A sufficient sum of money has not been provided, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is necessary for the proper accommodation of the scholars in Marion School District to erect additional school buildings; that a sufficient sum of money has not been provided therefor that to raise a sufficient sum of money to erect and equip the proper school buildings in the said district will require a greater tax upon the property of said district than this Board is authorized to levy; and to provide means therefor it will be necessary to issue bonds in the said school district in the amount of $20,000, of $1000 each, and to mature as follows:

Upon the first day of September, 1901, and $5000 the first day of March, 1907, and $5000 the first day of September, 1907, and March until all the bonds so issued are paid and the bonds to bear rate of interest not to exceed 5 per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and that we will submit to the electors of said district at the regular spring election to be held on the 6th day of April, 1896, the question of levying taxes for such purpose, and the further question of whether the levy shall be made from year to year thereafter and what amount shall be levied each year until the actual cost of erecting and equipping said school buildings shall be raised. Said election shall be held at the court house and those voting for the levying of the tax and issuing bonds shall have on their ballots "issue bonds—yes," those opposed shall have on their ballots "issue bonds—no."

March 9, 1896.

F. W. THOMAS,
President Board of Education.
FRANK K. WHITE,
Clerk Board of Education.

Crimson Rim Bicycle

Is the Greatest In The World.

The Most Wonderful Cycling Performance of the Year Stands to the Credit of the Crimson Rim.

FOUR world's records in one afternoon (March 2d) is a performance that no other wheel has ever had the privilege of recording, more especially as three are reduced by one man, and include the world's mile, paced with flying start, which is unquestionably the most coveted of the whole cycle.

It is a marvelous fact that the 2d mile was clipped almost eleven seconds, and ridden in the time that few riders can cover a half.

The Syracuse Crimson Rim Racing team has disbanded after having reduced eighteen World's and twenty-one Pacific Coast Records.

We append the records broken on March 2d:

ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

Mayor Nichols Receives Them By the Score Every Day of the Week.

Nearly every morning when Mayor Nichols' mail arrives he receives a number of letters without signatures. This morning he received an anonymous letter and his attention was directed to a certain case in the city which no doubt needs attention, but the writing was so poor that he was unable to ascertain where the party lived.

The mayor will pay no attention to such letters. If the writers have confidence enough in him to address their communications to him and leave their grievances in his hands he thinks that they should not be afraid to sign their names. Hereafter he hopes that anyone writing him will do so over their own signatures.

DRANK COAL OIL.

A Child of Mr. and Mrs. Mead Gets a Sickening Dose.

The little twenty-two-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mead drank a quantity of coal oil Monday night, which made it deathly sick for a time.

A lamp had broken and Mrs. Mead set the lamp in a small bucket that the oil might be saved. She afterwards removed the lamp from the bucket and stepped into another room After she left the room the child got hold of the bucket and drank the contents. The mother at once discovered the mistake made by the child, and Dr. W S Wells was summoned. The little one was not injured by drinking the oil, and will be all right in a few days.

A Distinguished Marionite.

We are at last to have the opportunity of hearing Prof. Preston W. Search in one of his lectures, which are giving so much satisfaction in literary and educational circles.

Prof. Search was born and brought up in Marion and is one of her boys of whom she may justly be proud Though still a young man, he is well known in educational circles from shore to shore of our continent. He is the exponent of individualism in education, the editor of The Advance in Education, published in Los Angeles, Cal., and a lecturer sought after in the highest educational circles of our land Prof. Search goes early in April for lecture work in New England, following his address at Harvard University on April 15.

He will lecture in Marion on Tuesday evening, March 24, in the Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of that church. Do not fail to hear him. Admission 25 cents.

There will be profit in attending Nelson & Son's March cut price sale and buy for future needs. The sweeping cut is in good faith, and makes prices heretofore unknown Personal investigation is solicited. April 1st ends it.

THE MARBLE HEART

WAS GIVEN THE CITY BUILDING AND GAS ORDINANCES BY COUNCIL.

A Few Icicles Are Thrust Down the Back of Other Propositions—The Teamsters Get a Refund of Tax Paid in—A Busy Session of Council.

Mr. Harsch was the only member of the august city council absent at the call of the roll at Monday evening's meeting. The lobby was represented by quite a number of distinguished citizens, who were on hand for different purposes. City Clerk Williams waded through the minutes of the previous meeting. The only correction was in the vote of the venerable Mr. Roberts. The clerk had him recorded as favoring the new city building resolution, which would naturally be assumed was an error. Mr Roberts insisted upon going on record against the proposition.

Chief Fies, of the fire department, presented his report on the new system, which he said was working perfectly and to his entire satisfaction. He recommended the removal of a box in order to give the fluber works better protection. The report was accepted and the recommendation referred to the committee on fire department and waterworks.

A number of teamsters petitioned council asking that, inasmuch as they had been informed that no further effort would be made to collect teamsters' licenses, they be paid back the amounts they had contributed to the city treasury. A resolution responding to the petition was presented in view of the fact that the court had ruled that teamsters could not be licensed. This ruling, however, does not apply to drays and hacks. The resolution was discussed briefly and adopted. It is a matter of local history that the teamsters were the ones who petitioned for the ordinance imposing a license, now about one year since.

An ordinance providing for the acceptance of McGrath's addition to the city was presented and passed, upon the recommendation of the street and alley committee

The plat of Martin and Kinsler's first addition to the city was accepted by ordinance, which was presented by the street and alley committee, with its approval.

An ordinance prepared for the acceptance of the deed to land belonging to H. True, for the purpose of opening Wilson avenue, was read. No sooner was the reading of the ordinance completed than Shutt made a motion that the deed be rejected, and explanations followed. The acceptance of the deed would delay the opening of the street, said Shutt, and would throw the burden of cost on other property owners Dickerson championed the cause of True, explaining that there was utterly no use for the extension east of Barnhart street. Rapp objected to a clause which exempted the property from assessments in the future should the street be opened in the future. Dickerson agreed with him that far. Shutt talked very plainly on behalf of the small property owners. The motion to reject was carried, Dickerson casting the only negative vote.

Then followed the ordinance for the extension of Wilson avenue from its present terminus east. As the ordinance was read the proposed terminus was left blank. During the reading Dickerson made a motion that the blank be filled by inserting "Barnhart street." A map was procured and in the investigation everybody talked at once. Finally the reading of the ordinance proceeded, at the conclusion of which Dickerson moved that the matter be referred to a committee of the whole council, and the ground will be looked over.

The clerk read objections to the assessments for opening and extending west Center street as follows: From the Erie Railway company, H. Hoyle and T. A. Thompson. The kicks necessitate the appointment of a new board of assessors.

Dickerson introduced the city building ordinance, providing for the levying of 11½ mills for the erection of the same, and submitting the question to a vote at the coming spring election. In the introduction Dickerson stated that he had faith to believe that the patriotic people of Marion, particularly the small property owners, would favor the proposition. The ordinance passed a suspension of the rules, but received a terrible drubbing when it came to final passage. When the vote was called Busard, Shutt, Roberts, Berry and Rapp went on record against the ordinance, leaving Strobel and Dickerson the only members in favor of it.

The gas ordinance came up and was given attention. It contained many essential changes from the original ordinance presented. The rate provided is not to be less than $1 per 1000 feet. While there was little expressed objection to the ordinance, when it came to a suspension of the rules, Roberts, Busard and Berry voted against it, thus defeating it for the time being.

An ordinance to prohibit the disturbance of a religious meeting and providing a punishment therefor was passed.

The regular claim ordinance was passed.

A resolution was introduced directing the city engineers to prepare plans for paving Greenwood street from Mt. Vernon avenue to George street. The resolution, which was adopted, is a look into the future. The engineer is to present an estimate of the expense of the improvement, and it depends entirely upon the value of the property to be assessed whether the street will be paved. While there can be no doubt of the need of the improvement there is an element of much doubt about its early accomplishment.

An ordinance to protect the new fire alarm system from molestations of any kind, and providing adequate punishment for such was presented and adopted.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Nine tramps were locked up at the city prison over Monday night. It was thought better to keep them there than to turn them loose on the town.

Marshal Blain and Mayor Nichols have received letters calling their attention to a woman on Windsor street, who is mentally deranged. They will give some attention to the lady

While at Cleveland, Monday, Marshal Blain learned that George Fox, who is serving a workhouse sentence from this city, bears a very unenviable reputation at the works. He is giving the authorities much trouble.

A family has just moved into the house vacated by Mrs. Harry Kear and Monday night they engaged in a quarrel. Members of the family begged the neighbors to call the police, but they refused to do so, and the trouble was finally quieted without assistance of the officers.

Public Sales.

Bills have been issued for the following public sales:

Tuesday, March 24, A. and L. Reber executors of the estate of T. V. Reber, will sell at one of deceased's farms, two miles north and one mile west of Marion, 58 head of cattle, 28 tons of hay and 800 bushels of corn in the crib, together with a few farm implements. Sale is at 10 a. m.

Thursday, March 26, William Bonham will give a public sale at the A B Johnson farm, northeast of Green Camp, when a long list of farming implements, live stock, products, etc, will be sold. Sale is also at 10 a. m.

On Saturday, April 4, H. E. Millison will sell personal property of an estate he is settling, at 2 p. m. at the west front of the court house.

Y. M. C. A. TRUSTEES

Held a Meeting Monday Night at the Association Building.

The board of trustees of the Y. M. C. A. had a full meeting Monday night and there was a greatly increased interest in pushing forward for a large work among the young men of Marion.

The financial need of $1500 immediately was faced in splendid style, enough being raised to start the canvass with, $550 and more will be given by the trustees. The members of the board testified to the increased interest due to the meetings of Sunday.

Among the matters which were discussed were plans for a fine educational work to be begun the coming fall. Lines of study will be taken up, which will appeal to mechanics, among which will be mechanical and free-hand drawing.

Other plans to make the building the very center of attraction will be pushed forward vigorously

State Secretary L. L. Pierce is still in the city and is giving active co-operation in the vigorous work to be inaugurated.

Dollars Are Mighty Hard to Make.

We find it so It behooves everybody to put their money where it brings the most. This store has declared war on high prices, war to the bitter end Everybody that is familiar with our prices are customers. We want more trade, more people familiar with our prices.

THE DRESS GOODS — Stock is a marvel of good goods, selected with good taste and selling at prices paid by other dealers. Every day we are told, "your goods are much the best selected and much lower in prices than elsewhere." It does not puff us up, but gives us an incentive to hustle harder.

SILKS. — They come every day. They sell every day. You buy a silk waist here, you save from 50c to $3.00 on it. an object, etc.

TRIMMINGS. — You may be in doubt as to what you want when you start to buy trimmings for your dress, but there will be no trouble to make your selection after seeing our line. Jet garnitures, iridescent garnitures, spangled garnitures, chameleon garnitures. All kinds and widths of trimmings by the yard. Silks and velvets for trimmings. Buttons for trimmings.

KID GLOVES. — There is but one best glove, it is the Trefousse, made in Grenoble, France, by the best kid glove maker in the world. We warrant every pair of kid gloves we sell at $1.00 or more.

CORSETS. — A long list of desirable and well fitting corsets for your selection Nothing but the best is good enough for you. They are here at 50c to $4.00

CARPETS. — Put all the other Marion carpet stocks together and they would not equal ours. Everything desirable in the carpet line, and at low prices.

D. A. Frank & Co.
